M° Alma-Marceau

Ancien hôtel particulier, le Sers rencontre le design pour évoquer «une sorte de mélancolie contemporaine» grâce à l'ingéniosité de Thomas Vidalenc. Simple, épurée, la décoration est un retour à l'essentiel et l'hôtel a pour vocation d'être une vraie maison pour les hôtes de passage. Pour ceux qui aiment le grand luxe : des suites avec vue panoramique, et un appartement de 80 m<sup>2</sup> avec terrasses... Home Sweet Home !

A pleasing combination of classic 19th century architecture and cutting-edge interior design for this wonderful hotel! This privately-owned hotel has a feeling of uncluttered space and a distinctive contemporary look. L'Hotel de Sers is built around a courtyard, the restaurant providing an idyllic setting for summer al fresco dining. This haven of calm is the perfect retreat from the buzz of the Avenue provides a modern fitness centre for relaxation and wellbeing. Contemporary melancholy!
